

HEALTH SEALS NOW ON SALE

Proceeds Will Go Toward Helping Prevent Tuberculosis in Missouri.

The annual campaign of the Missouri Tuberculosis Association was opened November 26, with the placing on sale all over the state of the Christmas anti-tuberculosis seals. The campaign will continue until New Year's, with special effort to be directed during Health Week which is the first week in December.

Miss Gladys Roberts, field worker for North-East Missouri, who visited her mother, Mrs. Annie Turner Roberts, 1109 Leavitt street, during Homecoming, explained the campaign of the association for this year.

"There are 36,000 cases of tuberculosis this year," said Miss Roberts. "Four thousand of them will die before a year has passed. The Missouri Tuberculosis Association which is trying to co-operate with the state in fighting the disease has the 200 beds of the Mount Vernon State Hospital at their disposal with which to wage this fight."

"We decided that since tuberculosis cannot be caught except through the bacillus that the best point of attack we had was to educate the children in ways and means of avoiding Health Crusade."

"Under this system the children are given health clues to be performed. If the child performs these health clues he is practically immune to tuberculosis, for the clues embody the best medical advice upon the relief and prevention of the disease."

Most of the schools in Boone County are using the Health Crusade material which has been supplied by Miss Dorothy Bruffe, the Red Cross Public Health Nurse.

This Health Crusade material is paid for by the proceeds from the sale of Christmas seals. The proceeds from the seals this year are also expected to provide field workers to give lectures on sanitation and hygiene in the State Normal next year.

"This year, in raising funds, we will offer health bonds at $5; certificates at $2, and the customary Christmas seals at 1 cent each. We hope to sell 10 cents per capita over the state or 50 cents for each pupil enrolled. Schools, churches, lodges and other organizations will co-operate," said Miss Roberts.

"Children selling $1 worth will get a button. Those selling $5 worth will get a gold shield. Schools that sell $1 for each pupil or $100 worth of Christmas material will receive a pennant."

"The Health seals will be on sale in Columbia shortly. A local campaign manager has not been decided on as yet. The seals this year will not carry the General Cross of the Red Cross which they have borne to us in the past."

Miss Roberts left for Fayette at noon Friday.

AT THE THEATERS

Columbia will be favored with the appearance of one of the foremost actresses on the American stage when Miss Florence Rockwell takes the part of Luna in "The Bird of Paradise" here tonight.

The play will be staged at the Columbia Theater. This is Miss Rockwell's third season as the Hawaiian princess.

"The Bird of Paradise" is ten years old. Many actresses have attempted to portray the role of Luna, but only four have met with any great amount of success. They are Bessie Barriscale, Laurette Taylor, Lenore Ulrich and Florence Rockwell.

HALL, tonight only: On account of the road attraction, "The Bird of Paradise" at the Columbia Theater tonight, the pictures will be moved to the Hall Theater for this night. The attraction will be Viola Dana in "The Willow Tree," a love story of the Orient. There will also be a Sunshine comedy, "Mary's Little Lamb."

HALL, Friday and Saturday: For the regular Friday and Saturday attraction at the Hall Theater, James Oliver Curwood's great story of the Northwest "The Courage of Marge O'Doone" will be shown. To those who witnessed the showing of "The River's End" and "Back to God's Country," Mr. Curwood will need no introduction. "The Courage of Marge O'Doone" is a Vitaphone special and has an all-star cast, including Niles Welch, Pauline Starke and Jack Curtis. A Mack Sennett comedy, "Gee Whiz," will furnish the laughs.

SLUFOOT TELLS SCOOP SECRETS

Cub Reporter Finds Plans for His Pleasure Are Now Completed.

Slufoot, the cub reporter, has discovered that all plans for the Journalism Scoop that all plans for the Journalism Scoop have been completed by the various committees. He can think of nothing else now but the good time he is going to have when Friday night comes. By methods known only to his craft he has made certain that all provisions for his pleasure and comfort are ideal and can not be improved upon.

This remarkable eavesdropper, who has sworn everyone's secrets the night of the Scoop, overheard members of the dance committee saying that it might be necessary to give the Scoop on two nights to accommodate all those who want to attend. The only drawback about last year's dance was that the floor was too crowded. To prevent the same thing this year only 160 tickets will be sold.

The students in the School of Journalism started wearing large, rubber-tired glasses this morning. These will be worn until the time of the Scoop, following a custom begun last year when all the journalists appeared in classes with Harold Lloyd headlight. Last year costumes relating to newspaperdom were worn by all who attended, but such costumes will not be worn this year except possibly duplicates of last year's advertisements.

Music for the dancers will be furnished by an orchestra especially picked for the occasion. Slufoot overheard Emil Nathan saying that the Scoop will have the best dance orchestra that ever played in Columbia.

To Slufoot the most important thing will be the food, and by hook or crook he has ascertained that there will be plenty of it. In fact he has determined not to eat anything for several days preceding the dance. If possible he will smuggle a basket into the dining hall of the Knights of Columbus Student Home, when mess call sounds so he can get supplies to last a week.

Another important thing, the most important in the minds of many, is that the parlors of the student home will be given over to the use of the journalists. Slufoot has announced that he knows where the main light switch is and that he will be present with a large notebook to take a report of the action play by play.

No price can induce the cub reporter to remain silent concerning any secrets he may learn. If the facts warrant an extra will be printed. The tentative price will be $2.00 a copy.
